Dear Sirs

ENGLISH UK -v- SSHD
CO/3854/2010

Thank you for your letter of 13 July.

We are instructed that International Group within the UK Border Agency which has responsibility for the operation of overseas posts was notified of the judgment in this case after it was handed down.

In order to ensure that there is no scope for confusion in relation to the English language requirements, our client is sending an instruction to all posts today to confirm that applications for English language courses at A2 level must be accepted where the sponsor makes it clear the student has been assessed to be already at A1.

We trust this clarifies the position.

Yours faithfully,

HENRY RIPLEY
