

Observations with a twist:

Promoting an observee-led approach to in-house observations of teachers

By Billie Haase

My Story.

Why do teachers not like being observed?

How are in-house observations usually conducted?

An Idea: Observee in the driver's seat.

Nurturing quality, instead of quality control.

The Experiment.

The Reflection Sheet

Reflect on 2-3
topics.

Teacher Talk
Time

Choose your own Focus

Body
Language

Monitoring of Students

Error
Correction

Interaction
Patterns

Classroom
Lavout

Student Participation

Lesson
Aim

Mini Questionnaire

1. What type of class did you teach during the observation? (level, type)
2. Briefly describe how you experienced the observation & filming in class.
3. How useful was it to watch the video before the reflection session?
4. What did you find out about yourself as a teacher during the reflection session?
5. Would you like to do reflection sessions like these regularly?

What have I found out?

The Next Step.

Questions?

Thank you for your attention.

www.innovateelt.com

oxfordtefl

TEACHER TRAINING

